

DREAMJOBS INC.

Career Detours™ NYC 2008

Event Bios

Welcome and Introduction:

Jenny Dedrick Krengel, Founder and CEO - Dream Jobs Inc.

An experienced sales and management professional, Jenny Krengel has a proven track record selling enterprise-level technology solutions including software, hardware, and services. During her 18 year sales career, she has been a leading contributor in helping start-up companies establish new products in new markets while building solid customer relationships, high performance teams, and profitable results.

Jenny graduated with honors from the University of Texas at Dallas with a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology. She was accepted in the Ph.D. program in Organizations and Strategy in the School of Management at her alma mater where she has completed coursework. Ms. Krengel founded Dream Jobs Inc. in 2006.

Gail Fierstein, Human Capital Management - Goldman Sachs

Gail Fierstein is head of Human Capital Management (HCM) for the Federation divisions. She was head of OTFS HCM before assuming responsibility for the HCM Federation function in 2007. She is responsible for all HCM related activities including GSU, Leadership and Diversity, Recruiting, Talent Management, Compensation and Communications. Gail was named managing director in 2002.

Gail is a member of the Center for Work-Life Policy's Hidden Brain Drain Taskforce representing Goldman Sachs as a senior corporate sponsor. Gail earned her BS in Marketing from Rutgers University.

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Sylvia Ann Hewlett

Sylvia Ann Hewlett is an economist and the founding president of the Center for Work-Life Policy where she directs the "Hidden Brain Drain"—a task force of 43 global companies committed to fully realize female and multicultural talent over the lifespan. She also heads up the Gender and Policy Program at the School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University.

She is the author of six critically acclaimed nonfiction books, including When the Bough Breaks (winner of a Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Book Prize), The War Against Parents (coauthored with Cornel West), Creating a Life (named as one of the best books of 2002 by Business Week) and, most recently, Off-Ramps and On-Ramps (Harvard Business School Press). Hewlett is well known for her expertise on gender and workplace issues. She is the coauthor of several Harvard Business Review articles and her writing has also appeared in the New York Times, the Financial Times, and the International Herald Tribune. A Kennedy Scholar and graduate of Cambridge University, she earned her Ph.D. degree in economics at London University.

Panelist Moderator: Nicki Gilmour - Founder and Publisher of TheGlassHammer.com, and CEO of Evolved People Media

Nicki Gilmour is a highly experienced media professional who moved from London to the United States in 2004 to help launch the successful financial-job website, eFinancialCareers.com, which was sold to Dice.com in 2007. Previously, she was Sales Director at Financial News, which she joined in 1999 as part of the original start-up team assembled by CEO Angus MacDonald.

TheGlassHammer.com is an online community created for women executives in financial services, law and business. It seeks to inform, inspire, and empower women via original content and fresh insights on the day's business news, career development, and downtime pursuits - all designed to help our readers get a jump-start on their busy day and week. The interactive format means that true networking can take place and ideas can be shared. Theglasshammer.com wants women to find mentors, clients and friends online and offline by using the Web site. They work with top employers to showcase great jobs every week - senior jobs, returner opportunities etc. Theglasshammer.com can help you plan your networking in advance by compiling all the best events around. It is known as the place for women executives to visit every morning.

Panelist: Robin Mayer - Executive Director in High Grade Research, UBS

Robin Mayer is an Executive Director in High Grade Research covering the transportation and manufacturing sectors. Robin joined the group in June 2007 after running Corporate Bond Research for Tiber Asset Management, a manager and issuer of corporate CDOs. Previously, she spent nine years in High Grade Research at Prudential Securities covering TMT and other Industrial sectors. Prior to that, she worked in Equity Research at Prudential Securities and interned in High Yield Research at Solomon Brothers. Robin holds an MBA from Columbia University and a BBA in Accounting from the University of Michigan.

Panelist: Barbara Turvett - Deputy Editor, Working Mother

Barbara Turvett, Working Mother magazine's deputy editor, has specialized in parenting, women's health, and education topics throughout her career in publishing. She has written and edited for many national publications including Child, Parents, Parenting, Family Circle, Weight Watchers, Healthy Kids, Men's Fitness and American Baby, to name some. She was formerly on the staff of Sesame Workshop, as a consulting editor for Sesame Street Parents magazine and began her editorial career at McCall's. In addition, Barbara has edited two award-winning early childhood education books and has written a health book and edited several cookbooks for Weight Watchers Publishing Group. Prior to life in publishing, Barbara was an actress and singer and performed in film, theatre and night clubs. Always striving for her own work/life balance, Barbara lives with her husband and 12-year-old daughter in New York City.

Panelist: Julia Kaufmann-Yu - Management Controls, Goldman Sachs New York

Julia Kaufmann-Yu is a Vice President in the Strategic & Technology Initiatives group within the Management Control Division at Goldman Sachs. Prior to joining Goldman Sachs, Julia was on a career hiatus from the corporate workforce for 6 years. During that time, she started an executive coaching business before making the decision to return to the corporate world. Julia has over 11 years of experience working in a management consulting capacity for internal consulting groups at Swiss Bank Corp., Citigroup, and at Accenture in their Capital Markets division. Her functional expertise is in strategic planning, organization re-design, and performance/talent management. Julia earned both her Bachelors degree and her MBA at the University of Pittsburgh. She has 3 kids ranging from ages 3-7 and lives in New Jersey.

Panelist: Petra Handrigan - Business Development Manager, Visa Inc.

With a progressive career in senior-level financial analysis and reporting capacities, Petra Handrigan offers expertise in a broad range of disciplines, insight into Latin American markets and business cultures, and a record of achievement contributing to strategic planning, business process enhancement, cost containment and profit growth for industry-leading companies.

Petra currently serves as the Business Development Manager for Visa Inc's Global Customer Care Service Center. In this capacity she is responsible for implementing and managing the delivery of high-quality services to Visa's clients and customers as well as identifying growth opportunities and strategies. Visa operates the world's largest retail electronic payments network and is one of the most recognized global financial services brands. Visa facilitates global commerce through the transfer of value and information among financial institutions, merchants, consumers, businesses and government entities.

Prior to Visa, Petra held various strategic management roles at MasterCard, Citigroup and Latin American Consumer Bank.

Petra earned her Master of Business Administration (MBA), Master in Professional Accounting (MPA) and Bachelor of Business Administration degrees from the University of Texas in Austin, one of the nation's top-ranked business and accounting schools. Ms. Handrigan is a Certified Public Accountant. She has worked and studied in 16 countries and is a native speaker of German. Petra is a graduate of the Tuck Back in Business program

Market Trends: by George Stein

Prior to joining the Whitney Group in 2007, George Stein was Wall Street Enterprise Reporter for Bloomberg News. During his 10 years at Bloomberg, George covered investment banks, mergers and acquisitions, insurance firms and capital markets, with a particular focus on the energy market. He also edited Bloomberg's Oil Buyers Guide and Natural Gas Report, and organized the firm's energy conferences. While at Bloomberg, George was awarded the Society of Business Editors and Writers (SABEW) award for reporting on Sandy Weill's decision to step down as CEO of Citigroup.

George earned a BA in Mathematics from Swarthmore College and an MA in Mathematics from Columbia University. He holds the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) designation.

What's Your Value Proposition? by Linda Glass

Linda Glass is a talent strategist currently working for Starbucks Coffee Company where she has been driving the global organization toward progressive talent solutions over the last several years. Not only does she possess keen insight into how employer's assess talent, but she is a sought after career coach as well.

Linda is a certified ROI coaching expert, has been a member of the Future of Talent thought leadership group, and is an alumni of the Center for Creative Leadership. Linda holds her degree in economics from DePauw University.